VERSATILE VIC VETOES VALOROUSLY

REPRESENTATIVE MAY'S BILL FEELS EDGE OF GOVERNOR'S AX

Darby Township Trustees Bought Lumber From One of Their Number and Used It in Bridge Building—Transaction in Good Faith but Illegal.

The sharp veto ax of Governor Viv Donahey is again in evidence. This time it fell on the neck of a bill of Representative John L. May, of this county. Whether the onslaught is a knockout for the measure or whether it will be resuscitated is problematical and time will furnish the answer.

The bill sought to authorize the trustees of Darby township to pay one of their number, Granville M. Garrison, $130.24 for bridge lumber he had sold to the township illegally while he was serving as such trustee.

The law on the subject is quite plain and no township trustee can legally sell to the township anything and receive pay therefor. In the present case, the trustees were unaware of the prohibition, bought the lumber from Mr. Garrison, used it in bridge building and paid him for it. Later an inspector made a finding against him and Mr. Garrison returned the money to the township treasury. As the whole transaction was in good faith and as the township had used the bridge material and as the price agreed upon was reasonable, Mr. May introduced the bill authorizing the township trustees to reimburse Mr. Garrison for his loss as there had been no intentional violation of the law.

In announcing his disapproval of the measure, the governor in his message to the general assembly said that such a law would defeat the purpose of Section 12910 and 12912 of the General Code which were enacted for the protection of townships.

"The bureau of inspection and supervision of public offices, in the course of an examination of the records of accounts of the township in question, made a finding for recovery against Mr. Garrison for the above named sum," declared the governor, "which he returned to the township treasury when the bureau called his attention to the illegality."

"The same state examiner, during the same examination, made findings for recovery aggregating $1000, against 43 other persons, who had received money illegally from various township treasuries of Pickaway county for services rendered or supplies furnished."

"As did Mr. Garrison, many promptly returned to the treasuries the findings against them. Most of them had not intentionally violated the law. The bureau of inspection and supervision of public offices has on its records uncounted thousands of findings against other public officials, who, upon being notified, made prompt restitution to the public treasuries."

"This bill would establish an unwarranted and dangerous precedent, which if carried to its logical conclusion would destroy the very purpose of Sections 12910 and 12912 and all similar statutes. If it be good policy to reimburse Mr. Garrison, whose good faith is not questioned, it should be made the policy of the state to reimburse all other public officials who illegally, tho in good faith, received monies which they paid back into public treasuries when findings for recovery were made against them. All members of the general assembly could find in their respective counties parallel cases, worthy of the same consideration given Mr. Garrison by this bill, which I am returning herewith to the house of its origin, disapproved."

When the bill came up, for passage in the house of representatives, only one vote was cast against it, while in the senate the vote to authorize the Darby township trustees to reimburse Mr. Garrison was unanimous. Whether the legislature will pass the measure over the governor's veto remains to be seen.

MISS YOUNG STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE

Several Ribs Broken and Sustained Injury to Hip—Taken to Hospital.

Miss Lillian Young, sister of Sheriff Robert J. Young, was struck by an automobile driven by Milton Friedman Friday evening about 7 o'clock at the corner of Pickaway and Main streets. Miss Young was knocked down and injured internally. Mr. Friedman, who was accompanied by Lewis Fohl brought his machine to a stop and they assisted Miss Young to the office of Dr. C. E. Bowers, where Dr. Court right assisted by Dr. Bowers made a hasty examination. On consultation it was decided to remove her at once to Mt. Carmel hospital, Columbus, and she was taken to that institution in Albaugh's ambulance. She was accompanied by her brother, Sheriff Young, Dr. Bowers and Milton Friedman.

A preliminary examination of Miss Young's injuries made at the hospital, developed that she had several ribs broken and she also sustained an injury to her right hip, the extent of which could not be told until an X-Ray of the hip was taken, but it is thought that her hip is broken. Miss Young also suffered some painful bruises on her head and face.

The injured woman speaking of the accident at the office of Dr. Bowers, said that she was returning home from

WILL CLOSE UNIVERSITY DISPENSARY

Definite Decision as to Future Not Disclosed at This Time.

ASKS INFORMATION

President Thompson Urges Students to Tell All They Know.

Altho the official investigation into the presences of poison in medicine given out at the college of pharmacy dispensary, Ohio State university, is over so far as the campus is concerned, the dispensary will remain closed for the present. It has not opened its doors, except to the investigators, since the inquiry into the dispensing of poison was begun nearly two weeks ago.

Purpose of Place Two-Fold.

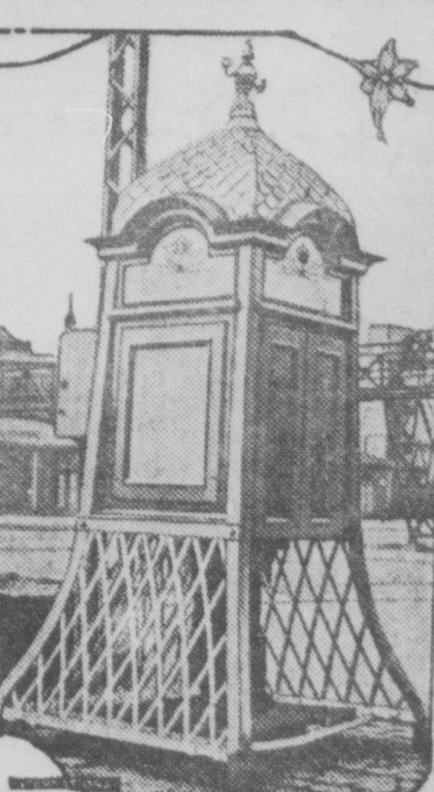

Definite decision as to the future of the dispensary, established four years ago will not be made for some time, it was said Thursday at the office of Dr. W. O. Thompson, president of the university. There is a possibility it may not be reopened, it was added. If it does reopen its doors a registered pharmacist will be in charge at all times, it was said.

The dispensary service was created with a two-fold purpose, it was explained. It was designed to give pharmacy students practical training in addition to their laboratory and classroom work, and it was created to enable the general student body to get prescriptions issued by the student health service filled promptly and at cost. This made for economy of time and money, it was added, from the students' standpoint.

Dean Dye Explains.

Failure to have a registered pharmacist actually in the dispensary at all times was explained by Dean Clair A. Dye of the college of pharmacy, as due to lack of definiteness in the law. Sections 12705 and 12706 of the Ohio statutes covering the point, merely say that a registered pharmacist shall be "personally in full and actual charge (continued on page five)

Neglecting Problems of National Defense
"The American people are neglecting problems of national defense and almost overnight have forgotten the lessons of the World war," said James A. Drain, national commander of the American Legion, at a luncheon attended by two of the United States army round-the-world flyers, Capt. Lowell H. Smith and Lieut. Leslie Arnold. "I cannot emphasize too much," Commander Drain said, "the necessity of perfecting our national defense, even while we are talking peace, and preparedness in the air is not the least of our problems by any means. Our government should follow the lead you Magellans of the air have given it, that in the unhappy event of war this country might still be in the lead as regards sufficiency and efficiency of its air forces."

Loup City (Neb.) Post Expects to Be in Lead
With a membership already 200 per cent over the top, Loup City (Neb.) post of the American Legion expects to lead the Legion in Nebraska during 1925. On October 6 the post had a meeting at which Department Commander Courtney made an address. Following the meeting 55 new members were enrolled, giving a total of 80 members for the post. Commander Courtney made one of the finest talks on the Legion ever heard in the state, say Legionnaires present. "It not only had a punch in it, but a pull as well—enough to pull half a hundred into the Legion on the spot," Commander Courtney said, among other pertinent things: "If you don't like the way a Legion post is run, get in and run it yourself."

Two Lady Adjutants in Department of Florida
The department of Florida of the Legion has two lady post adjutants, one at Miami and one at Daytona. Howard Rowton, adjutant of the department, says his "red-headed stenographer," who is his wife, says the department has a lady adjutant if you ask her. While Howard was attending the adjutants' conference at Indianapolis recently the "red-headed stenographer" kidded the boys into sending in more dues to headquarters than his adjutancy, her husband, had succeeded in doing in a month of exhortation and dire threatening.

Merry Membership War
Jim Drain's recent membership message to the American Legion auxiliary, in which he said, "The potential membership of the Legion auxiliary is 10,000,000, and the most the Legion ever can have is four and one-half million. The membership of the auxiliary should easily exceed that of the Legion," is having its effect. The auxiliary of the department of Minnesota has just challenged the Legionnaires of the department to a merry little membership war to determine who will have the most members at the end of 1925.

AMUSEMENTS

What has turned out to be Jackie Coogan's most entertaining picture will be seen at the Met theater Monday. Its title is "Little Robinson Crusoe," written especially for the little star by Willard Mack, who has let his imagination run rampant in working out a plausible and suitable story for Jackie.

The story has to do with Jackie, who plays Hickey Hogan, orphaned son of a San Francisco police hero. He sets out from San Francisco on a tramp steamer bound for Australia to visit his aunt. When they reach the tropics, however, a typhoon wrecks and sinks the ship, taking down all on board with the exception of Mickey and a black cat, who drift away on an improvised raft and strike the shores of a tropical isle.

Then come cannibals and Satan, in all his demoniac glory, after he beholds the doings of little Robinson on the tropical man eating island, will hide his face in shame. For Jackie starts the ball rolling and keeps everyone busier than a vagrant pup with a pedigreed herd of fleas parking on him.

Imagine, embraced in the setting of one picture—San Francisco's police force, the U. S. marines, shipwrecks, cannibals, monkeys, black cats and you may expect most anything—especially when such a mischievous son of Erin as Mickey Hogan is let loose among cannibals.

The splendid supporting cast includes Tom Santschi, Gloria Grey, Will Walling, Bert Sprotte, Noble Johnson, Tote Ducrow and C. H. Wilson. "Little Robinson Crusoe" was personally supervised by Jack Coogan, Sr.

x HARTMAN THEATER. x x x x x x x x x

Not since Joseph Jefferson and Mrs. John Drew toured the United States with "The Rivals" in 1896 has that national theater known as "the road" had an opportunity to witness such distinguished performance of Sheridan's immortal comedy as is presented this season with the appearance of the all-star cast now touring the country. This production comes to the Hartman theater Columbus Thursday night, February 19, for three nights and a matinee Saturday.

Mrs. Malaprop, rigid with decorum, is played by Mrs. Fiske. The truculent Sir Lucius O'Trigger is personated by Chauncey Olcott. Bluff and choleric Sir Anthony Absolute, gazing with imperious condescension upon the galaxy of the pump room of bath is to be played by Thomas A. Wise, who returns to the sphere of old comedy in which he started his career. Bob Acres, the pusillanimous, with his absurd finery will be played by James T. Powers, already noted for his performance of David. Lydia Languish, with her sentimental novels, is assigned to Lola Fisher and the role of Lucy, the maid to Marie Carroll, already known in high comedy. Captain Absolute will be enacted by Kenneth Thomson, a young actor, who has become famous as a leading juvenile; Julia is represented by May Collins; Faulkland by Fred Eric; Fag by Percival Vivian; and David and the coachman by George Tawde and Walter Woodall, respectively.

Of all the more-or-less comic plays written by various English dramatists during the period of the so-called old comedies, only three—"The Rivals," now revived in commemoration of the 150th anniversary of its original production, "The School for Scandal," and "She Stoops to Conquer" possessed the vitality to survive as perennial favorites along with Shakespeare's plays. And those three were the work of two exceptional dramatists, Richard Brinsley Sheridan and Oliver Goldsmith. Ever since its first production "The Rivals" has commanded the laughter and the affection of the most celebrated actors of their day. It is this country it was a constant favorite in the repertory of Augustin Daly's stock company, which held the stage during the period of the greatest distinction of the American theater.

Jefferson started giving it regularly 1881 with Mrs. Drew as Mrs. Malaprop and Maurice Barrymore as Captain Absolute. And later, after William J. Florence joined the company, Jefferson continued to produce it until 1892. In 1896 Jefferson took the company on a month's tour of the country playing one-night stands. Jefferson played Bob Acres; Mrs. Drew was seen as Mrs. Malaprop; William H. Crane as Sir Anthony Absolute; Robert Tabor as Captain Absolute; Joseph Holland as Faulkland; Nat Goodwin as Sir Lucius O'Trigger; E. M. Holland as Fag; Francis Wilson as David; Julia Marlowe as Lydia Languish and Fanny Rice as Lucy.

Color Plays Part in Formal Frocks
Loveliest Shades Are Conspectuous in Daintiest Evening Attire.

Evening, dinner and dance frocks are of interest, both matron and maid coming under their spell, for there is something so alluring, so colorful about these dresses which belong to the electric lighted part of the day that few can withstand them, observes a fashion writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Perhaps it is best to scrutinize the materials in vogue for evening before we turn our attention to the varied modes. Velvets, both in white and colors are especially good, and they may be plain chiffon weaves, or gorgeous velvet brocaded chiffrons and georgettes. Solid-colored and shaded chiffrons are especially youthful, while satins, silk brocaded chiffrons and laces, gold and silver are also smart.

Color, too, plays an important part in evening attire. The loveliest reds are used, flame, firecracker and castilian with rose, coral and shell pink, glowing yellows and golds for those who can wear them with blues, laven-ders, purples, fuchsias and several tones of green.

Bouffant Frocks, Embroidered and Lace Trimmed Back and Paniers.

The all-white evening gown is also featured to a notable degree, and very attractive such frocks are, the necessary color touch being given by gorgeous ostrich fans, gayly embroidered scarfs or shawls, Spanish or oriental in design.

After one has a general idea as to material and color, deciding on the particular mode in which the gown is to be fashioned, if it is to be made by a modiste, is the next step. Indeed, even when buying a garment of any type in the store it facilitates matters to have some idea as to the material and color desired.

For the young girl, a full-skirted mode is always becoming. This fullness may be achieved by a straight gathered skirt, a circular one, or by the use of godets. A pretty model shown recently was of tangerine-colored georgette made with a tight bodice and an extremely wide circular skirt, the sides being a trifle longer than the front or back. The trimming consisted of self-colored flat silk roses about two and a half inches in diameter, set at intervals over the entire skirt.

Baby's Laundry Bag Is Very Essential Item

Particular mothers are especially careful about the baby's laundry. They know the importance of keeping the small wool, silk and muslin articles of infants' wear separate from the family laundry. These little garments, designed to protect the delicate, soft skin of the baby, must be carefully washed with mild soap, and thoroughly rinsed in clear water, so that they will not become harsh, or filled with substances that are irritating.

The best way to do this, in a systematic manner, so that mother will always know where to find each article of clothing, is to keep a laundry bag separate from the general one and use it for baby's clothes only. When the child is old enough, three years or about, it can be given early lessons in neatness by letting it pick up its own garments and stow them away in the laundry bag. If the bag is an attractive one, and it can be, as easily as not, this habit will grow to be a pleasant one with the child.

Quite the cunningest, and also the most practical bag, can be made with a small amount of trouble. The top is made of wool, painted in the shape of an adorable head, with lovely curls dimples 'n' everything. The baby's arms come down to hold the bag open, so there is no vexing draw string to bother. The bag itself is made of cretonne, sateen or unbleached muslin and is roomy enough to hold heaps of clothes.

producing a velvet or satin finish in any

Bird of Marked Peculiarities.

The yellow-breasted chat is an eccentric bird both when it is singing and in flying. When these birds sing their musical effort seems to require a great deal of flitting of the tail and twisting of the head; and even when they are flying their tail jerks up and down, giving them a strange appearance. The song of this bird is scarcely worthy of the name, having been called a "series of grotesque syllables."

home to report for duty at the office of Dr. Bowers. She was crossing Main street at the corner of Pickaway, and had nearly reached the curb on the north side of the street near the Marfield residence when she was struck by an auto that had come around the corner from North Pickaway street. She did not see this machine until it was nearly upon her and she did not have time to make the curb. In the distance she saw a car coming west on Main street, but did not see the car that struck her.

Mr. Friedman did not see Miss Young until he struck her as he turned into Main street. The bumper of his car struck Miss Young and she fell headlong to the street. Jamming on his breaks quickly he stopped the car at once and went to her assistance and with the help of Mr. Fohl, who was in the car, removed her to the office of Dr. Bowers, and later called Dr. Courtwright to attend to her injuries.

This is the second auto accident to befall the Young family. Seven years ago her sister, Mrs. W. H. Tolbert, was struck by the auto of Talmer Wise. Mrs. Tolbert's leg was broken and later it had to be amputated. She died following the injury and amputation. This accident also happened on Main street, just one block east where the accident befell Miss Young.

Spying Out German Munitions No Sinecure

Berlin.—Of the various interrelated missions which have been functioning in Germany since the end of the war, there is one, at least, upon which positions are not eagerly sought. This is the military mission of control, whose duty it is to probe into Germany's military activities and see that no arms are being manufactured beyond the limits provided by the treaty of Versailles. There have been many unpleasant incidents when official visits were made to the fortresses and ammunition plants.

Since the commission began its work in 1919, some 993 official visits have been paid to quarters connected one way or another with the German army. As the coming of the commission members is known to the German officials at least forty-hours in advance, the news generally is in possession of the residents of the district where the inspection is to take place. Nearly always menacing crowds assemble, and the police have to be called to disperse the agitators, who often threaten to do the foreigners bodily harm.

ADMINISTRATOR'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

At the north door of the court house Lancaster, Ohio, on SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 21, at one o'clock p. m.

For the purpose of adjusting the estate of the late Judge John G. Reeves, the undersigned will offer for sale, at public auction the well known Reeves farm located one mile northwest of Lancaster, Ohio, on the Lancaster and Columbus pike.

This farm is composed of the good kind of land commonly known among farmers, as Walnut and Sugar land, and a liberal portion of Hocking Valley bottom land of excellent quality. This farm is famous for one of the great springs of the county which furnishes abundance of water for all farm purposes and is constant and never failing in flow.

For dairying and gardening and general farming this farm is unexcelled and its accessibility to markets the very best, being located on State Route, Brick Market Road No. 21, and less than half mile from the Camp Ground station of the Hocking Valley Railroad and the Scioto Valley Traction line both of which are accessible by public road from the farm. The Red Star bus line also passes the door of the farm house.

Good orchard, country school at corner of farm, comfortable house and very good bank barn.

At same time and place will also sell a 50 acre tract located in Rush Creek township, three miles southwest of Bremen, Ohio.

The first tract of 125 acres is appraised at $150 per acre. Second tract appraised at $1500.

TERMS:—One-third cash; one-third in one year and balance in two years from day of sale. Deferred payments to bear interest at 6% secured by mortgage.

Administrator.

WHITE CROSS HOSPITAL TO BE IMPROVED

be six complete operating rooms. These rooms will be the finest equipped department that science and money can produce. Overhead skylights will be one feature of the ventilation and lighting arrangements.

Contract Not Let.

"No general contract has been let for the construction of either building at present," Dr. Benson says.

By the purchase of the Medical building the hospital has increased its bed capacity 30 per cent and it is planned to move the present kitchens and dining rooms to that building, replacing them with additional beds in this building.

"The construction of the new building will begin as soon as possible. It will contain 126 beds, private rooms, sun parlors and baths. Two operating rooms will be located on the first floor for emergency cases, with an ambulance driveway in the center.

"Special arrangements for children have been made on the third floor of the new wing. A play room will be one feature of this department. Glass partitions will divide the allotted space enabling one nurse to observe the entire ward. A contagious disease ward also will be maintained here.

Not Mere Dream.

"We want the public to realize what a great help this will be for Columbus," said Dr. Benson. "We are not dreaming of this plan for it is going to be a reality, as we have the money to do it with and the plans are approved by the entire board of directors.

"The administration building also will contain what we term an 'out patient' department. This will be for those persons who merely wish an examination, or who are not sick enough for confinement in the hospital. Any one wishing to be examined or who think he may be afflicted with a disease, should make use of this opportunity," he added.

Excavation for the new wing has begun while the remodeling of the administration building still is under way. Contracts for the heating, plumbing and electrical work have been let according to Dr. Benson.

Chinese Cattle.

The native cattle of China are of the humped species common in the Orient. The main difference between these cattle and the European cattle is in the enlargement of the hump on the top of the shoulders. The meat in this hump is said to be of good quality. The color of the cattle in China is much like the color of Jerseys, varying from a yellow red to a brown red and sometimes pure black. Spotted or white cattle are not common, chiefly because the meat of an animal with white color markings is considered inferior. Fawn is a quite common color.

VALENTINE
DANCE NEXT
ON PROGRAM.

The C. A. C. had the warmest dance program yet last Saturday evening when an unusually large crowd tripped to the aristocratic jazz put out by the State Collegians, one of the best orchestras ever heard in Circleville. They are just what they are supposed to be—red hot and full of pep. This outfit consists of Lamont Retz, saxophone; Fred Everett, trumpet; Lee Kramer, piano; William Martin, banjo; E. W. Skidmore, trombone and C. W. Schmachtenberger, drums and they are everyone good.

Next Saturday evening, February 14, the club will have a carnival Valentine dance and the State Collegians will furnish the music. Between five and six hundred people are expected and it will be "one grand soiree." Everybody that likes to dance or watch dancing will be there and it will be the place to find your friends. Remember, you are assured of good music—all of you like the Collegians; the affair will be a carnival in honor of Valentine's day; and that there will be a big crowd and a good crowd in attendance; and furthermore that you are sure to enjoy it, and there will be no doubt that you will be there. Next Saturday, February 1, at 8:30 p. m. at C. A. C.

Three members of the pharmacy faculty, he added, are registered pharmacists and the fourth is a registered assistant. Dr. Dye testified before the investigators that since he was at all times in and out of the dispensary and since he considered himself personally in charge of it, that the requirements of the law had been met.

Students of the pharmacy college were called together this afternoon for the first time since the investigation began. At this meeting President Thompson discussed the situation and urged the students to volunteer any information they knew which has not been called to the attention of the investigators. Only about a fourth of the students of the college were questioned.

Classes and laboratory work in the college were going Thursday as if nothing had happened.

One for Smokers.
Anecdotes of Charles Kingsley abound just now, for he was born on June 12, 1819. Smokers will particularly relish one told by Mr. A. G. Benson, essayist and son of Archbishop Benson: "My father used to tell how once he was walking with Kingsley round about Eversley, when Kingsley suddenly stopped and said: 'It's no use. I know you detest tobacco, Benson, but I must have a smoke,' and he had accordingly gone to a big furze bush and put his arm in a hole, and after some groping about produced a big churchwarden pipe, which he filled and smoked with great satisfaction, afterward putting it into a hollow tree and telling my father, with a chuckle, that he had concealed pipes all over the parish to meet the exigencies of a sudden desire to smoke."

REAL ECONOMY IN BETTER
WALL PAPER

Good wall paper is the real thought of true economy. It is within the reach of every home owner. The total added expense of decorating a room with better grades is only the small additional cost of paper. The labor charge remains the same, hence the investment is small compared with the ultimate results. Be mindful of the fact that nothing stands out more conspicuously than wall decorations. Wall paper is the background and support of all the furnishings. It is the final touch in beautifying a home. Select the better grades and you profit both in beauty and economy.

George Eliot and Her Heroines.
To each of George Eliot's heroines she gave a daily companion—usually sister or cousin—who is plainly intended to serve as a foil. These foils are all of the ordinary type, with dull intellects and selfish hearts; but they remain wholly unconscious of limitations in themselves. Discerning no good beyond worldly advancement and no use for any faculties save those of the practical managing sort they are convinced of their efficiency and good sense. Always pretty and attractive, they represent the Philistine in the bud. For narrow natures like theirs the social world exists.

WAITING.

As the years mark time on the mystic page
And the white frost rests on the crown of age,
And the far call comes from beyond the sky
In a sort of sunset lullaby,
It is sweet to pause in the rose-red west
Just to muse of those that we loved the best!

It is sweet to dream of the ones we knew
In the far off world with its dome of blue;
It is sweet to pause in the sunset land
For a backward glance at the childish band;
For a lingering look ere the frost winds blow,
At the ones we loved in the long ago!

Ah! the ones we loved in the long ago!
They have drifted far with the ebb and flow,
They have sailed their crafts on the open sea
To the harbor's rest or the tide's debris.
Ah! the trusts that failed and the prizes missed,
And the cold dead lips of the hopes we kissed!

Like the frost scarred leaves of a ripened rose
On the tangled path where the soft wind blows,
We may rest an hour in the warming sun—
But the night is near and the petals blow
To the ones we loved in the long ago!

A Steel House.

A steel house has attracted a good deal of attention at the "Own Your Home" show in New York city. Made of plates of steel, the little four-roomed house is practically a large steel box, which the inventors claim will prove absolutely wind and weather proof and, owing to an airtight space between the walls, both cooler in summer and warmer in winter. Externally, it looks like a concrete house, with a neat red roof, and practically it can be taken down and set up again in a conveniently portable fashion. If four rooms are not enough, one may buy more steel plates and enlarge the dwelling. Thus American domesticity moves onward from the log cabin to the steel house.

weather Optimism.
Everybody, said Mark Twain, complains of the weather, but nobody ever does anything about it. It is the common failing of humanity thoughtlessly to consider its personal comfort first, in disregard of the benefits which may result from a warm spell which ripens the crops, or a rainy season which fills the natural reservoirs, or a cold snap which is supposed to make away with next season's orchard and garden pests. And there is also on the side of the occasional weather excess the testimony of Dr. Ellsworth Huntington of Yale that monotony of temperature and humidity are not good for civilization, that man progresses most where there is a variety of climate.

Lincoln Memorial. Chicago
The memorial to Lincoln designed by Saint Gaudens and erected in Chicago is one of the most remarkable character studies in stone ever designed. The rugged simplicity of the monument, combined with the faithful portraiture of the statue, seems to breathe the spirit of the Great Man.
The MODERN MONUMENT builders should give you the same results. I can refer you to many memorials erected by me in the past 27 years of my business here. Call at show room. No agents to annoy you.

Source of Happiness.

The world contains not one single object that might not be a source of happiness. Sorrow springs from this, that man outdoes himself in misusing everything. He turns against his own body or his own spirit all sorts of things that seem well made for his joy.—Georges Duhamel in the Century Magazine.

Where the Lazy Thrive.

Perhaps, among the happiest people in the world, are the Ekoi, of Southern Nigeria, on the equator. Here they pay no taxes, and a few weeks' labor will supply them with food, clothes and a home for a year, thanks to the fruitful land. These people have a superstition that little children love sweet words, kind looks and gentle voices, and if the family into which they have been reincarnated is quarrelsome, they will forsake the earth until the chance offers to return again amid more peaceful surroundings. Dancing is one of their main occupations, and, on all great festivals, the chief societies of men, women and children come up to the station to give a series of dances.

INVASION

Guarded from all that gives life wings,
From fear of failure, every rough
Contact with elemental things,
We have been sheltered long enough.

Take your full toll of men and ships,
Oh, fierce and inexhaustible sea!
Lay salt upon our flaccid lips,
Teach us your terrible treachery!

Come, wind, and thrust a searching blade
Between the doorsill and the door;
Dust, creep across each barricade,
Teach us what these frail hands are for!

And then, when we have been prepared
By sand that stings and salt that smart,
When in adversity we've shared
This wonder knocking at our hearts—

Mingled again, identified
With earth and air, with fire and foam,
We'll fling these doors and windows wide,
Saying to life: Come home.
—Leslie Nelson Jennings, in New York Sun.

Shipment of Caviar Is Soviet Monopoly

Caviar is one of the world's most expensive luxuries, outside of Russia, where it is chiefly produced. In Berlin it retails at about $22 a pound. In Petrograd or Moscow it is one of the favorite dishes of the workingman, who takes home a mess of it two or three times a week, at a dollar for all that he and his family can consume at the evening meal, says the Montreal Star.

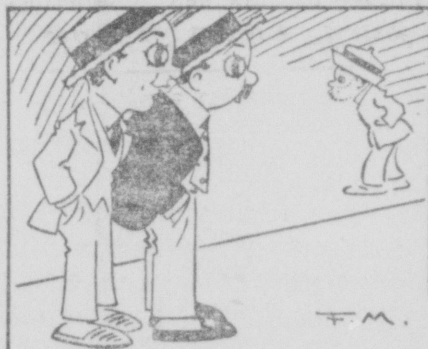

The roe is eaten with bread and washed down with wines aged in cellars of the wealthy long before the Soviets came into power.

The world's largest storehouse of caviar is located in Hamburg and administered purely as a Soviet Russia government monopoly. It is from this warehouse that virtually all shipments of this favorite relish of kings and czars of olden times are sent to New York, Paris, London and other centers. The fish roe, pressed and salted, is shipped from Petrograd in barrels, packed away here in a central warehouse and then sold according to the demands of the trade.

Haiti's Famous "King"

Christophe was king of Haiti from 1811 to 1820. He was a full-blooded negro who entered as a private soldier in the army of Toussaint l'Ouverture to fight the French, became a leader under Toussaint's successor, Dessalines, and after the murder of the latter was strong enough to have himself elected President of Haiti. When his power was contested by General Petion he retreated to the north of the island, there had himself proclaimed king and built his famous "Citadel." His reign was as despotic and cruel as that of Nero. Even his death was dramatic. Having suffered from a stroke of apoplexy which all his charms and voodoo spells could not cure, he decided to commit suicide. But not in the ordinary way. He was determined that his manner of taking off should be worthy of a great king. He had a golden bullet made for his pistol, and with this he shot himself.—Kansas City Star.

Houses Built to Last

It is almost invariably found that the solid homes of our forefathers were so well planned and built that any structural defects that have developed have been due to the settling of walls and foundations rather than to any weakness of material or poor workmanship. Recently a 200-year-old house on the New England seacoast was restored. It was found that the soft wood underfloors put down so long ago were as sound as the day they were cut and so much hardened by age that when dressed they made excellent top flooring.

Well Too Prolific

When Jack Pollard of Stanford, Ky., dug a well at his home he struck three kinds of water, each radically different from the others, in a shaft 21 feet deep. At a depth of 3 feet a stream of sweet water was encountered. It tasted as if it had sugar in it. At 11 feet the drill brought a flow of sulphur water. At 21 feet salt water was found and Pollard gave up drilling.

Determination Counts

The good book tells us that as a man thinketh so is he. No greater truth was ever spoken or written, a fact sustained by human experience throughout the ages. Translated into modern terms it says, "For they can conquer who believe they can."—Grit.

Reason in Their Fall.

Institutions may crumble and governments fall, but it is only that they may renew a better youth.—George Bancroft.
